Superintendent Keith Posley resigns following MPS special board meeting

Milwaukee Board of School Directors voted unanimously early Tuesday, June 4, 2024 to accept resignation of Dr. Keith Posley

Milwaukee Public Schools (MPS) Superintendent Keith Posley has resigned following a special board meeting that was held the evening of Monday, June 3, 2024.

The Milwaukee Board of School Directors (MBSD) accepted his resignation unanimously in an after hours closed session, early Tuesday morning, according to a statement from MBSD.

It came hours after the Milwaukee School Board convened for the meeting on Monday to discuss the status of Superintendent Posley, after learning about the state potentially withholding funds because of long-overdue financial reports.

The directors heard from parents, taxpayers, former employees, and even city leaders.

Many called for Posley's resignation, along with others on the board too, saying a lack of transparency and discrepancy in funds is a long-standing issue within MPS.

"Accountability. I think that's probably my biggest concern. As an elected official I want my constituents to hold me accountable, just like the parents and the families and the residents here are holding the school board accountable," said District 10 Alderwoman Sharlen Moore. "We need accountability and when things aren't working right, we need decisions that are going to be made to change those outcomes."

Moore was just elected this past spring. She said she has kids in MPS and that she's been concerned about these issues for years.

She told TMJ4 that she attended the meeting Monday night to support students, families, and Milwaukee taxpayers who deserve to know what's going on with the district's finances.

Other aldermen attended, including 5th District Alderman Lamont Westmoreland. He has been vocal for the last week, calling out MPS saying he's disgusted and embarrassed by the ongoing failures.

"I'm not one to put something out like that and sit behind the scenes. I'm here with the people. They're pissed off, I'm pissed off. I'm a taxpayer," said Alderman Westmoreland. "I don't have kids in MPS; however, I represent

U.S. Rep. Gwen Moore headlines Newsmaker Luncheon

Event Photo

Congresswoman Gwen Moore (D-Milwaukee) was the featured guest at the Milwaukee Press Club's Newsmaker Luncheon on Wednesday, May 29, 2024, which was hosted by the Milwaukee Press Club and WisPolitics.com and took place at the Newsroom Pub, 137 E. Wells St., in downtown Milwaukee.

Moore, who is nearing two decades in Congress, represents Wisconsin's 4th Congressional District. Moore took questions from a panel of journalists and from the audience at the luncheon, which was moderated by Milwaukee Press Club President Maryann Lazarski, series/documentary producer for Milwaukee PBS.

Midwest Bible College holds special graduation

Midwest Bible College (MBC) celebrated a unique graduation ceremony last week at its 21st annual meeting on Friday, May 24, 2024. Thirty-two students received their associate's, bachelor's, and doctoral degrees in Biblical Studies. Three of these students completed their studies online including one African graduate who, although unable to attend, was able to share in the celebration via live streaming of the event. With the addition of this year's graduates, a total of 788 students have earned a degree or certificate from Midwest Bible College since 2003.

This graduation was bittersweet, however, as it was the first graduation without the founder and president, Dr. Roy Bowen. Dr. Roy went home to be with the Lord last December. He left giant shoes to fill, as he was a teacher and mentor to hundreds of pastors, leaders and friends both locally and around the world, especially in East Africa. His daughter, Dr. Nicole Bowen Purpura is continuing his legacy and his work as the new president of Midwest Bible College. Apostle Steven Mayanja, a dear friend of Dr. Roy's, was the keynote speaker via video from Uganda, East Africa.

Waukegan City Council votes to censure alderman over Facebook post of arm

DNA testing is underway to determine if arm belongs to Sade Robinson, a Milwaukee woman murdered and dismembered last month

As investigators in multiple jurisdictions continue their search for remains of a woman believed to have been murdered and dismembered, a member of a government body in Illinois formally condemned one of its members over a social media post which depicted a picture of a human arm.

The Waukegan City Council voted 6-3 to censure Ward 6 Alderman Keith Turner because of the graphic Facebook post.

Someone found the arm May 11 along Lake Michigan in Waukegan. A spokesperson for the Milwaukee County Sheriff's Office, which is leading the investigation into Robinson's death, said experts are conducting DNA testing to see if the arm belongs to Robinson.

"Shocking discovery at Waukegan Beach!" Turner's mid-May post read, "A severed arm found, but no report or mention from the administration. What's the story behind this mysterious incident? #WaukeganBeach #MysteryUnsolved." The post initially included the photo of the arm. The photo has since been removed.

Some have asked for Turner to apologize for the controversial post. Ahead of Monday night's vote, at least one member of the City Council echoed the request.

In his first public comments about the controversy, Turner said the planned censure vote was politically motivated because he's running for mayor.

"It is important to note that this post was not made in my capacity of alderman, nor did it involve the use of city resources. I am profoundly disturbed that these public officials would misuse their authority in such a manner, attacking my character and fostering a hostile work environment within the city council," Turner said.

The resolution called Turner's actions unauthorized, insensitive and disgraceful and questions his ability to handle sensitive information.

thousands of families that do have kids in MPS, so we deserve better."

The board went into a closed session to discuss the fourth agenda item, which was "possible action concerning the administrative assignment status of the superintendent."

They remained in closed session for more than five hours.

Posley's resignation will go into effect on June 30, 2024 according to the statement from MBSD.

In the meantime, the MPS Regional Superintendent for the Southwest Region, Eduardo Galvan, will support and facilitate day-to-day operations for students and families while MPS searches for an interim superintendent. Galvan has served MPS for over thirty years, operating in many roles throughout the district.

The board will begin the search for an interim Superintendent right away.

Web Photo

The board also released Superintendent Posley's employment contract and resignation agreement.

That resignation agreement lays out a $160,000 severance payment. It will be paid out in a lump sum with taxes withheld.

The agreement also says Posley will be paid out any wages he'd earned on the job but hadn't received a paycheck for. He'll also be paid any accrued, unused vacation and personal day pay. Both of those "terminal benefits" were agreed to in Posley's original employment contract.

As part of that agreement, Posley cannot file any action claim or grievance against the board, MPS or any of its respective agents. Posley also agrees to be cooperative in any litigation following the signing of the agreement.

The agreement also said that Posley can't be employed by the board in the future.

Juneteenth Day resolutions

Juneteenth Day takes place Wednesday June 19, 2024 in the USA. The ending of slavery in the USA in 1865 is celebrated in many cities around the country. In 2024 let's add a new tradition to celebrating Juneteenth Day. African Americans should make Juneteenth Day resolutions in the same manner people do New Years resolutions.

"Free at last. Free at last. Thank God almighty we are free at last." Martin Luther King, Jr., stated these words in his, I Have A Dream speech. African Americans are free in 2024. If African Americans are going to remain free, they need to create some guidelines and expectations for themselves. This is where the resolutions come into play. Many people make resolutions for the new year and stick to them. True, by February or March the resolutions are forgotten. Yet, the effort to make a change was there. A few weeks of change in the African American community would be a blessing for all people in the USA.

One suggested resolution for African Americans is to analyze their thoughts. Many African Americans never spend time understanding their own mind and thoughts. African Americans should take a few minutes every day to think about why they are thinking what they are thinking. The analysis of one's own thoughts can be quite liberating. Many issues in a person's life stem from the fact that they are thinking thoughts that lead to negative actions. If every African American above the age of 12 analyzed their thinking this may lead to better decisions. Better thoughts and actions will undoubtedly lead to a calmer, safer and more prosperous African American community.

Another suggested resolution for African Americans is to stop blaming white people. If you listen to the majority of African Americans talk about issues in their community they invariably talk about the system and white people. True, the US is based on white privilege. White people created the government and the laws that have impaired African American growth. Everyone knows this in 2024. African American need to take back the power they give white people over their lives. Stop saying they're doing this to us and playing the victim. African Americans are unconsciously giving white people power over them by thinking that whites control their every action and thought. US society is unfair and racist toward African Americans. African Americans should use this knowledge to understand what they are dealing with and move on. African Americans' don't give people who do not have your best interests in mind the power to control your life, mind and destiny.

One valuable resolution for African Americans would be to stop spending so much time on pro sports and media-provided entertainment. Many African Americans live their lives through pro athletes and celebrities. Think how smoother many African American families would run if a portion of the time parents and children spent gawking over celebrities and pro athletes was spent talking to one another. Real conversations about how each other is doing. Conversations that lift up one other and deal with issues pertaining to their household. Which is more important to a family's cohesiveness, arguing over who is the 'GOAT' in the NBA? Or, how a child is coping with the transition from one grade to the next? African Americans' focus your time and energy on you and your loved ones. After all, your family are the people you live with, not the millionaires on TV.

Juneteenth Day is a celebration of history and culture. Juneteenth Day resolutions should become an annual tradition in the same way New Year's resolutions have become. Progress will be made even if African Americans only stick to the resolutions for a week. Simply thinking about the need for a resolution every year would be major progress in the African American community. African Americans if you change your mind you can change your life.

'Same Game Different Smokers' exhibition explores troubled history between the tobacco industry and black America, shines light on menthol

In recent years, there's been a strong push by health advocates, civil rights groups, elected officials, and residents, including thousands from Wisconsin, urging federal officials to finalize the proposed rule by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to remove menthol cigarettes from the market.

The recent announcement that President Joe Biden's Administration is postponing the long-awaited menthol ban, while a disappointment, will not impede the work of those working to reverse the damage caused by the decades-long and ongoing targeting of the black community with menthol tobacco.

"Today's news from the Biden Administration is a blow to the black community, who continue to be unfairly targeted and unjustly killed by Big Tobacco," wrote Derrick Johnson, NAACP President and CEO in a statement.

"The NAACP is outraged and disgusted, but we refuse to be deterred. We will continue to do whatever it takes to protect and advance black life. This is what standing for community looks like."

In truth, the tobacco industry's troubled relationship with black America is much deeper than menthol. It began hundreds of years ago. It's the same game, just different smokers. And it's here in Milwaukee.

Curated by California artist and activist Tracy Brown, Same Game, Different Smokers is a national exhibition that explores the troubled 400+ year relationship between black America and tobacco. The free exhibit is being featured at Milwaukee's Washington Park Branch Library, 2121 N. Sherman Blvd., through June 29, 2024.

"We hope that the community comes out to experience this free exhibit and learn about how the tobacco industry has devastated African American communities, and how the industry is using those same time-tested tactics to generate a new generation of tobacco users," said Lorraine Lathen, director of the Wisconsin African American Tobacco Control Leadership Council (WAATCLC), which sponsored the Same Game Different Smokers exhibition. "Although tactics have changed, we're still targets of the tobacco industry."

The WAATCLC and WTPN brought the exhibit to Milwaukee with the support of Milwaukee Public Libraries, the African American Tobacco Control Leadership Council and Wisconsin Tobacco Prevention and Control Program.

Exhibit curator Tracy Brown, said the exhibit takes visitors on a trip through the history of tobacco and black America, exploring topics such as tobacco's intimate link to slavery. The slave trade brought tobacco to North American colonies, mainly Virginia, to supply the English market. Slaves in North America cultivated tobacco, the product that enslaved them.

Tragically, the multi-billion tobacco industry of today has been built on the backs of slaves and their lineage. This success has been achieved to the detriment of black health and through the egregious behaviors that are so deeply entrenched in the tobacco industry's DNA.

"Throughout history, black America has been victimized by tobacco," said Carol McGruder, co-founder of the African American Tobacco Control Leadership Council (AATCLC), which sponsored the Same Game Different Smokers exhibition. "Although tactics have changed, we're still targets of the tobacco industry."

McGruder's group, the AATCLC, recently filed a second lawsuit against the Left: Illustration of "Am Crow," the immensely popular blackface minstrel character after whom the system of segregation was named. Right: 2007 ad for Newport Menthol Cigarettes. From the Newport Pleasure series.

FDA for its failure to take action on menthol.

Wisconsin State Representative LaKeshia Myers, recently discussed issues related to tobacco industry menthol targeting in an op-ed.

"The tobacco industry has strategically targeted African American communities with menthol cigarettes through advertising techniques and product customization. This includes placing more advertisements in predominantly black neighborhoods and sponsoring events popular among black audiences (who remembers the Kool Jazz Festival?)," Myers wrote.

Visitors can learn more about the history between black America and tobacco and its evolution to current day by visiting the Washington Park Branch Library during any of its regular hours of operation to experience Same Game Different Smokers.
